What is a dental implant?

Video for patients – a useful tool for the waiting room

The new short film from BEGO Implant Systems was produced especially for patients. In easily understandable language, it provides an introduction to the topic of dental implants. Step by step, different treatment options are described: from conventional solutions to implant-borne prosthesis. Bloodless animations are used to show how a dental implant works, how it is set and prosthetically fitted, as well as the benefits it brings to the patient. Every step is described in a detailed and practical way and gives the patient some initial information about dental implants.

This can be found on YouTube (<https://youtu.be/psss3-t2mSQ>) and can also be downloaded from the BEGO Implant Systems media library (<http://bit.ly/Patientenvideo>).
